It is the year you entered high school.
It is the day your paper is due.
It is the hour of your favorite class.
It is the minute you were asked to Prom.
It is the second in which you were handed your diploma.

While each moment we will carry with us into the future is personal and precious, we are all sharing a universal moment as well.

This is the moment when we will all leave 1,000 years of history behind and move ahead to face 1,000 years of new life.

Our mission is to enter bravely into the future, while at the same time never letting the past become forgotten.

No matter what we take with us from these days on the edge of the future,
a constant theme unites us all.

It is about every good time and every bad time.

It is about remembering where we have been as we dream about where we want to go.

It's about time.

The concert choir provided angelic hymns in order to set the Christmas mood for the audience

Charbria White and Carrie Drapac display some cool dance moves in their stylish tech vests.

Student Life

Outfitted in warm winter sweaters, scarves, mittens and hats, the singers were able to put the chilly listeners at ease.

Shanae Coleman sings a Christmas favorite sure to make even the coldest snowman feel a bit of Christmas cheer.

Under the direction of Mr. Chris Gloff, the concert band is an integral part of the traditional concert.

Senior Theresa Escalante is a long-time saxophone player whose talents are revealed through her membership in the band.

It's about time

to realize the after-hours life of a student is not all fun and games. Students are involved in school and community events that put into good use the talents and skills they possess. The annual Christmas concert is one such example. Students spend their precious social time practicing, organizing and fine-tuning this event every year, and it gives the entire school a way to be together during the busy holiday season. And so now we give a hand to the people behind this traditional event as we step back to remember the special moments.

Inspired by hit holiday ads like the Gap's "I wanna dress you up in my love..." this year's dancing had the whole audience moving.

The senior saxophone players earned a spotlight solo during the band's performance.

Time to Celebrate !

Twice by mid-year Niner fans were taken on tremendous rides by athletic teams. As the school year began the girls' soccer team established themselves as the team to be beaten throughout the state. Playing on fields from Merrillville to Evansville the girls prepared for tournament play. Setting records both offensively and defensively the girls outscored their opponents 25-2. Playing in one of the few sports that is not divided into classes, the girls found themselves matched in the state finals with Lawrence Central, the state's largest school. Regulation time found the Niners tied, ready to move into overtime. In that extra period the girls fell. The Niner faithful had followed the team throughout the season and left knowing that the effort they had witnessed was one for the record books. In the season wrap-up, Kathy May was awarded player-of-the-year status by the Times and was chosen for all-state honors.

The start of basketball season found the super fans ready to resume action. Warm-ing up the gym on cold winter nights, the rowdy faithful helped to propel the Niners to a number one ranking by tournament time. Completing the regular season with 19 straight wins, the cagers added three sectional victories, a home regional win, and two thrilling semi-state wins before 2,000 fans headed to Indy. In their loss to Brebeuf Jesuit, the Niners remained first in the hearts of all Andean fans.

At the end of the final game, Mrs. Power joined Shane as he accepted the coveted Trestler Mental Attitude. No one who had watched Shane's contribution in four years of varsity play doubted that the state had chosen wisely. Niner fans bid a fond farewell to seniors Late Staten and Shane, as they had in the fall to the runner-up soccer players. Throughout the school the refrain became, "Thanks for the memories."

THE AHS DRAMA CLUB
PRESENT

THE NERD

Carrie Whelan, as Celia Walgrave, in a comic scene, explains very slowly to Robert Emond that she works with the mentally challenged.

The nerd, accidentally wearing a halloween costume, is introduced to Warknock Walgrave

Robert Emond, playing Wilhelm Cubbert, expresses how irritated he is by the nerd.

At Warknock Walgrave's birthday party, cast members sit down to snack on deviled eggs together.

Debbie Trembicki, as an older version of Ms. Walgrave, tells the psychiatrist, played by Mr. Guzman, about past events that are still bothering her.

Joe Billick, starring as the nerd, refuses to eat the rock cornish hen that Tansy McGinnis, played by Cassie Cook, has given him.

Nicole Campbell, as Ms. Walgrave, tries to convince her father, played by Alan Saunders, the nerd is not in costume.

HOMECOMING '99

The candidates for homecoming queen '99 gather to celebrate the coronation of Angie Provenzano. Joining her are Shawn Bosak, Leah Pavel, Annie Puntillo, and LaRitta Webb.

Angie accepts her crown from '98 queen Courtney Kinkade.

Commenting on her coronation, Angie said, "Winning homecoming queen was a great honor. It was even a better experience because we were all friends. It was a magical night that I will never forget." Niner homecoming spirit was alive as the warm fall night meant the sidelines were filled with activity.

*Annie Puntillo was escorted by Pat Wieser.
Leah Pavel was escorted by Geoff Cianci.*

*LaRitta Webb was escorted by Larry Webb, Jr.
Shawn Bosak was escorted by Ryan Marchina*

Homecoming 1999

A Walk through the Jungle

Rashawnda Smith, Sherita Winston, and Patricia Smith get ready to go downstairs and join the fun.

Blake Johnston and Emily Hussey, share a moment on the dance floor.

At Homecoming, couples come together, line up, and do the "conga" around the gym.

Kathy May and John Barney show they are having a g-r-r-r-reat time at the 1999 Homecoming Dance.

Melissa Ziemkowski and her date decide to take a break from dancing and share Hi-Cs.

While checking in at the beginning of the dance, Bill Newton is greeted by his friends.

Spinning around, Rachel Wayne swings to "Jump, Jive an' Wail."

HOMECOMING '99

The class of 2002 received second place in the homecoming cart contest with their decorative jungle theme.

In a scene straight from the movie Dazed and Confused, the senior girls, in their team shirts, bonded during Spirit Week.

Josh Fry and Mia Pangere smile for the camera after winning the Homecoming prince and princess titles.

Carrie Drapac and Tonya Vachirasomboon go back to the 80's or flashback day.

SPIRIT WEEK

Jeff Hadt stands proudly after being crowned Homecoming King.

Fr. Joe shares smiles with seniors Joe Hardiman and Steve Jurcin on pajama day.

In a flashback to the 50's, Cassie Cook dresses in a poodle skirt for spirit week.

Charbria White and Emily Sopko, whose outfits come from different eras, converse with Liz Adlard in the hallway.

room thirty

THE CHILD DEPOSITORY

Matt McFarling studies his lines for the sixth and final episode of Room 30. Elyse Pancheri as Dora, Darren Zancan as Erik, Matt McFarling as Phat Cash, Laura Sims as Jess, and Adam Mandon as P.J. pose for one last cast picture.

Mr. Szot, as the bum of Room 30, gives advice to Phat Cash and Dora.

Laura Sims checks to make sure her costumes are ready for the show.

Ryan Cortazar and Jordan Troka write a script for the actors after receiving inspiration from Joe Billick, playing Jesus, and Dan DeBonis, as Janet Reno. Room 30 was written and produced by the students of Andean this fall.

During the first of the six consecutive episodes of Room 30, Darren Zancan sets the scene as he chills at his desk. The original production played to sold out audiences each week.

Elyse Pancheri puts on her stage make-up before performing.

After the last show, the writers of Room 30 receive their awards for a job well done.

WALKATHON

Chris Thomas and Sarah James eagerly get their pledge sheets stamped so they can complete another round of the Walkathon.

Dave Kosinski smiles during a break from duck duck goose. Students gathered in the gym and participated in games after completing three laps around the school.

Enjoying the great weather, Erin Smolinski and Cathy Williamson walk leisurely on the track. They weren't in a big hurry to leave the sunshine.

Sophomores, Stephanie Govert, Kim Maravilla, Meagan Austgen, and Jamie Gutowski joke around and laugh as they start their first lap.

Carrie King and Drew Otte step off the track and begin powerwalking the rest of the way to the finish point. The Walkathon, which took place on October 1, raised money for various organizations. The participants were very successful in collecting donations for this cause.

Getting away from the mass of people, Gina Shawver, Erin Phillips, and Erin Backe decide to take a break from the action.

Students sit down in groups to enjoy their ice cream treats after finishing the Walkathon.

Mommy and Daddy Date Nights

Kelli Ferree and Jill Fowler teach each other the latest dance steps.

Enjoying their third Daddy Date Night, Amy Rich and her dad dance the night away.

Joe Leon and his mother show off their moves while grooving to the sounds of the "Music Men."

Sophomore Kim Maravilla escorts her father to the dance floor.

Erin Smith and her dad get down to their favorite song at Daddy Date Night.

Hans Bergstrom leads his mom in a dance at the Mommy Date Night held at the Elks Club in February.

Candace Nowak, Stephanie Henley, and Julie Rakoczy line up to do the electric slide.

After sharing dinner with friends, Dave Kosinski and his mom celebrate their night out.

Joined by Sister Philothea, junior boys take advantage of good food and good fellowship as they enjoy Mommy Date Night.

WEST SIDE STORY

Rob Emond, as Bernardo, Reuben Pedroza, as Chino, Rich Batka, as Diesel, and Dan DeBonis as Riff plan for the war council.

At the dance in the gym, Rueben Pedroza and Rosa Rodriguez mambo.

Maria, played by Kelli Manigrasso, and Tony, played by Glen Bauser, profess their love for each other as they exchange vows.

At the end of the "Jet Song", the gang gathers around their leader Riff, played by Dan DeBonis.

Glen Bauser, as Tony, anticipates his future at the dance.

Kelli Manigrasso, playing Maria, tells the Shark girls just "how pretty" she feels.

Rachel Izak, Cathy Giorgio, Meredith Hallett, and Kelly Konzen try to keep their "cool".

Angela Sanchez, as Anita, displays a dance kick in the mambo number.

In the opening scene of West Side Story, Lt. Schrank, played by Mr. Szot, threatens Action, played by Alan Saunders.

Turnabout 2000

One Enchanted Evening

It's all smiles as freshmen Stephanie Adams, Tim Mestrich, Lindsey Staniszeski, Kelly Konzen, Joe Greaney, and AnnMarie Frey gather for a group picture at this year's turnabout.

Jonathan Moore and Kelli Campbell get down on the dance floor.

Jordan Troka and her date discuss their dinner plans as the music plays on.

Becky Stull and Adriana Hernandez ditch their dates flash smiles that outshine the nearby balloon decorations.

Not even taking a break for the camera, seniors Becky Gouveia, Jackie Muha, Jaclyn Bennett, and Annie Lazzaro keep on dancing.

Ryan Farag and Jamie Larsen have a great time during this "Enchanted Evening."

Sophomores Tim Schwuchow and Megan Kabella dance to the Electric Slide.

Best Friends!

Pre-Prom 2000

For most, prom begins weeks before the actual dance takes place.

Many activities go into the preparation to make the evening special.

Shopping and grooming take lots of thought and work.

Today's the day! Alli Hannon works to sit still as she gets her nails done just right so they will go with her dress.

Months in advance of their perfect night, Sherita Winston, Rashawnda Smith and Patricia Smith begin the search for the perfect dress. They try on many before making a choice.

The day before prom Kevin Brown picks up his tuxedo, proving once again just how easy the guys have it.

With help from his mom, Kevin has picked out the perfect bouquet.

As time winds down, Alli puts the finishing touches on her purse.

Finding the perfect dress means finding the right shoes to go with it. Sherita, Patricia, and Rashawnda complete their purchases for the big event.

The last stop Alli must make is the hairdresser. She keeps a careful eye on the work in progress as she watches the creation of her curls.

Prom 2000

Just after being named Prom King and Queen, Geoff Ciani and Shawn Bosak pose for a formal picture of their special moment.

Stormy Weather, an acapella music group, provides dinner music to get things moving.

Sr. Philothea enjoys a visit with prom-goers. Here she talks to seniors Amy Shone and John Barney about their post-Prom plans.

Alan Saunders and Missy Elisher enjoy the meal that was specially prepared for Andean diners.

Armageddon

In the starting game, Sara Suheski runs around in circles before trying to make a basket.

The freshman tug-of-war players enjoy their first taste of Armageddon.

Scoring, Katie Pellar takes her best shot at the volleyball.

Akia Brown displays her skills at double-dutch to her friends

In the parking lot during Armageddon, games were set up for the students. Here, two combatants try to knock each other with their over-sized gloves.

Organizations

It's about time

to look inside the workings of an Andean tradition that is rooted in being organized. The Parent's Club has sponsored a popular and exciting fundraising event for many years--the Style Show. Encompassing the entire school community, the Style Show is organized by parents, features students and teachers as models, and is attended by faculty, administration, and Andean family from throughout the area. Current students are also encouraged to sell tickets. The event is truly a community project. The planning begins before school is even in session, and could never be pulled off without an extreme amount of good communication and organization throughout the school year until the spring show. It is more than just an event, however; it is a prime example of what a community can accomplish when it works together as a team. The Style Show gives encouragement to students new to after-school activities to start off clubs and organizations in STYLE, and realize that our hard-working groups are about much more than SHOW.

At the halloween party, Nikita Spiller helps with the popcorn project.

Sports

It's about time

to honor those athletes who played their respective games a step ahead of the rest. They are the ones who did not play for glory, who did want mere fame, who saw and respected the power of teamwork. It can be seen in their faces--the determination, the unbreakable spirit, the mental working just as hard as the physical. Here are just a few examples of these true athletes, playing in that one moment of glory. It is the moment when all the work pays off, and winning or losing is a trivial matter. It is the moment when the clock stops in the heart of the player, and all that exists is the athlete and the game at hand. It is the moment when fans must just sit back and watch, but when the game is over, come together to celebrate the moments that created athletes and brought about victory.

Keeping players injury free

Trainers help throughout the year

To avoid any serious football injuries, Mr. Hesser tapes Brian Cafiero's wrist.

During the state game in Indianapolis, Trainer Marovich and Coach Swan discuss how to avoid injury during the game.

After spraining her ankle while cheering for the 59ers, AnneMarie Guzior gets her ankle wrapped by Mr. Hesser.

During football practice, Brian Ray sprained his wrist and with the help of Trainer Marovich his wrist is successfully wrapped.

Trainer Marovich uses hydrogen peroxide to clean out a deep wound on Tracy Simon, due to a volleyball injury.

To prevent any possible injury, Mr. Hesser does a shin splint wrap on Ian Johnston before football practice.

Even after his retirement, Mr. Andy Kirk has continued to assist the trainers during football season.

Academics

It's about time

to realize how much we have accomplished in our days here--all while sitting at a desk! We have completed homework assignments in homeroom while catching up on gossip. We have sat at a tiny desk in 90 degree weather, taking a final in the hardest class of our high school careers. During theology classes, we have had group discussions that made us more aware of the incredible qualities of our classmates. When we had a test in a first hour class, our lockers and the floor served as our desks at 7:45 a.m. Even the lunchroom chairs served as desks when a vocabulary exam was to follow 'A' lunch. We took a driver's exam, an SAT exam, countless English pop quizzes, an AP Biology final, and decided who would become Prom Queen--all while sitting in one of those impossible-to-nap-in desks. After all that, what else is left but to stand up from our desks and go use all that we have learned.

Charbria White begins the tour of Andean as Jorie Garcia hands out descriptions.

During Open House Glenn Bauser explains the placement test to parents.

Jackie Coram and Julie Rakoczy work on a hands-on activity with Mrs. Harris.

IT'S TIME FOR

Science

Before making that first critical incision, Ashley Lofton and Jessica Romer read the directions to be sure they understand them.

Cutting up

Jessica Moutaw and Theresa Leon carefully pin down the earthworm as they probe its many organs.

Jonathan Moore and Mrs. Giorgio describe the lab facilities to incoming freshmen.

Recalling their many safety lessons, Jackie Cooper and Elizabeth Cera conduct one of their many chemistry experiments.

Expanding their knowledge, Ryan Cortazar and Austin Arceo listen as Rick Cortazar and Neal Drasga explain how a control variable influences the outcome of the experiment.

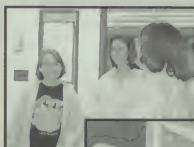

IT'S TIME FOR

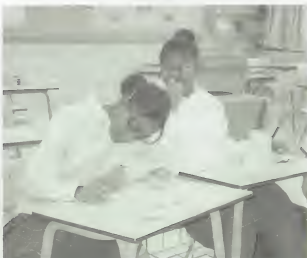

Theology

Class salutatorian Pat Daily has no trouble explain the intricacies of a rotating schedule as well as the many course offerings in the theology department to inquisitive parents.

Living the word

Jacinta Anigbo does her best to think of the answer.

Rob Emond and Jennifer Runes work through their own game of life in theology.

Akia and Aquita Brown enjoy Nikita Anderson's reaction to her life dilemma.

Jennie Kopack and Carlo Santori use scissors and their imaginations as they make collages that reflect their lives.

Cathy Giorgio and Laura Waters look on as Cassie Cook decides what her next move should be in her game of life.

IT'S TIME FOR

Fine Arts

Erin Lesniak completes work on one of her award-winning contest entries.

Throwing a pot

With Armageddon approaching, Ashley Craig works with the rest of the advanced design drawing class to complete work on the mural. The chalk design has become part of the Armageddon tradition.

Chris Vasquez molds his pot to the desired thickness.

Choosing her materials carefully, Jerlinda Thomas prepares for her next project.

As it hums along peacefully, Sarah Jarecki's soothing fountain attracts Carrie Hendrickson's admiring glance.

IT'S TIME FOR Practical Arts

Matt Baker enjoys his opportunity to serve up the dessert to the members of his group, who don't seem to have any complaints.

Sara Butterworth shares her pineapple cake with Carrie Quinn and Kristen Stephan.

Planning our futures

In careers freshmen learn about opportunities and also enjoy freebies such as the hats and t-shirts worn by Charles Sherwood, Gina Gregorczyk, Kim Haack, Rob Gutierrez, and Greg Grimler.

As Justin Fernandez looks on, Joe Zaborske and Chris Balzer prepare a spread sheet.

Gino Cimarolli, Terrence Crossley, and Rorie Ford stare at their food project trying to decide who must take the first bite.

Victoria Conley concentrates hard on trying to flip her crepe in one smooth motion.

Burger King was just one of several companies that made presentations to the freshmen during the course of the year. The state-mandated course in career opportunities gave the students insights into the many fields they will consider.

IT'S TIME FOR Health/gym

Mr. Hesser helps Jeff Hadt to his feet as he reminds him of the gym skills he might have used to stay upright.

Playing for keeps

Andy Fowler takes to the court as Jay Mindas looks for someone open to pass to.

Joe Greaney introduces an interested family to Mr. Rogovich during Open House.

Victor Pedroza, Pat Bytnar, and Jerry Brown all fight for the ball as their teammates decide whether they should help.

Sam Provenzano tries to remember all the important details about health foods.

Kelli Feree shares her knowledge of Andean with visitors.

William Shakespeare came alive for many of the freshmen whom Mrs. Thomas taught. The Tragedy of Romeo and Juliet took today's teens to the world of their Elizabethan counterparts in her classroom. This introduction to her favorite bard produced a life-long love in many students.

During spring break, Andrean seniors walk along the famous waters at Bath.

For many years Mrs. Thomas shared her love of the British Isles with her students during these school holidays.

Many of Mrs. Thomas's extracurricular hours were spent putting out the Andrean yearbook, the Decussata. For fourteen years these books bore her imprint. She was not, however, limited to this activity. At one point during her tenure, she was the moderator of a very successful hockey team. Although she was no longer part of the staff, Krissy Wynkoop and John Zaborske, 2000 editors, knew the influence of Mrs. T. since her valuable insights remained part of the procedures.

JOYCE M. THOMAS
1935-2000

Although not Irish by birth, Mrs. Thomas had a love for all things Irish and made many trips there with her students and friends. The last trip she made was in the summer of '99 with a group of her former colleagues from Andrean, who insisted on one of her escorted tours since so many students had already shared that experience.

This poem by Irish poet William Butler Yeats seems to be a suitable reflection on Mrs. Thomas's life and career.

The Lake Isle of Innisfree

I will arise and go now, and go to Innisfree,
And a small cabin build there, of clay and wattles made:
Nine bean rows will I have there, a hive for the honey-bee,
And live alone in the bee-loud glade.

And I shall have some peace there, for peace comes dropping slow,
Dropping from the veils of the morning to where the cricket sings:

There's midnight's all a glimmer, and noon a purple glow,
And evening full of the linnet's wings.

I will arise and go now, for always night and day
I hear lake water lapping with low sounds by the shore;
While I stand on the roadway, or on the pavements grey,
I hear it in the deep heart's core.

Remember

During her 28 years at Andrean, Mrs. Thomas taught many children from the same families, often at their request. Those who worked with Mrs. T. knew that they could count on her to identify any family member, what year the student had graduated, and the funniest thing that child had said or done. She was the resident archivist. Junior Tonya Vachirasomboon was in the last freshman class that Mrs. T. taught before her retirement. As was the often the case, both of Tonya's older sisters had also shared Mrs. Thomas's wit and wisdom.

Album

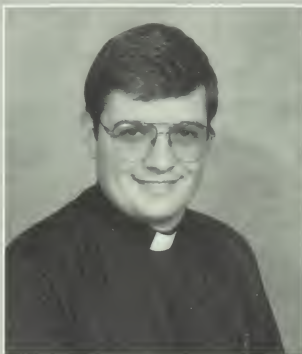

It's about time
to realize how much we have changed--on the outside and the inside. We are not the same people we were last year, nor will we be the same next year. Our pictures may be just faces, but they have the ability to bring us back to a time and place full of moments we had almost lost. No matter how old we get, it will always be important to step back and to face who we really are.

Leading the way...

As they started their first year, the freshmen chose Sam Provenzano as president, Patrick Bytnar as vice president, Lindsey Staniszeski as secretary, and Jon Moore as treasurer. Homecoming was the first class activity the freshmen enjoyed when they beat everyone in the hall decorating contest. Their first retreat was celebrated in the late fall. In February the officers coordinated a lock-in at the Omni. Throughout the year freshmen joined the Andrean family in numerous activities such as the all-school Masses, one of the unique and defining experiences at Andrean. Here Father Joe distributes the Eucharist to Morgan Oswald at the opening Mass.

Magister Meus Christus

Andrean High School is distinguished by many unique features, but enacting the school's motto throughout the year is the most important characteristic. In numerous ways the students live up to the idea that Christ is surely my teacher. Each class participates in a retreat during the school year. The juniors shown here are reflecting on the words of Father Terry Diffenbach. Once each month the Andrean family celebrates the Eucharist, sometimes with one of Father Joe's serenades. Each week students are reminded that the Lord loves a cheerful giver. Freshmen Geoffrey Grant and Afton Hamilton demonstrate this truth as they participate in the mission collection

Sharing what they have with those less fortunate is a regular habit when we follow Christ as our teacher. Each year the German classes lead the school in securing the necessary supplies for local food pantries.

Sophomores, too, enjoyed a day away from classes to share with each other those things for which they are most grateful. Always high on these lists are good friends and the chance to receive an Andrean education.

Class of 2001

Moving ahead...

Assuming the role of upperclassmen, the first move of the class of 2001 was the election of class officers. Chosen to lead were Gina Nicolini, Sarah Laib, Kacey Rak, and Evvie Orfanos. Participation in the walk-a-thon brought the class together as it earned money.

Katie Goldman and Allie Hannon capture James McNiece and lure him away with their curls and their smiles.

For Halloween fun Nicholl Krantz, Dan DeBonis, Joe Billick, and Elyse Pancheri prepare to attract a little attention as they move toward the sock hop in the gym.

Seniors

It's about time

to reflect on how much we have changed, and how much we have remained the same. We have come so far from that first day when we gathered as a group at our freshman orientation picnic, just learning one another's names. Now we know people in ways we could never have imagined. We have shaped each other's futures in ways that will not be apparent for years to come. We have shared hysterical moments, nights full of tears, and unforgettable triumphs. And no matter who passes through these halls in the years to come, we will remain the class of 2000, the people who carried our school from the old millennium to the new. It has been a task none of us will ever forget, but all that remains for us to do now is to say goodbye.

BACCALAUREATE

With Father Mike and Father Joe con-celebrating for the last time, the Mass for the class of 2000 begins.

Zak Klobucar and Joe Knauss listen to the opening prayers as their final Mass gets underway.

Jamie Larsen blesses herself as she returns to her seat after receiving the Eucharist.

The Communion hymns were played and sung by Angela Sanchez, Kelli Manigrasso, Nate Holscher, and Sergio Ortega.

A.J. Bytnar steps forward to receive the Eucharist from the Bishop.

Nate Holscher prepares to lead the congregation in the responsorials.

Sergio Ortega, Crista Campos, and Carrie Whelan join voices in song.

Angela Sanchez reads from the Acts of the Apostles.

Becky Stull receives communion from Father Mike as Mass comes to a close.

The panorama of the class of 2000 fills the Radisson with happy celebrants.

Lamario Richardson reflects on the Bishop's words as he listens to the sermon.

COMMENCEMENT

Valedictorian Angie Reist smiles in acknowledgment of her classmates' applause as she finishes her address.

John Magana and Marsha Malinowski show their appreciation for the reminiscences that they have as the ceremony comes to an end.

Kenya Andrews accepts the Bishop's congratulations as she reaches for her diploma.

The emotion of the moment grabs Crista Campos as she wipes her eyes.

Salutatorian Pat Daily reminds the members of the class of 2000 of all they have accomplished already as he recalls the many achievements of his classmates.

Members of the class display the important reminders of activities that have been important to their friends.

Chuka Anekwe receives his diploma and the congratulations of the Bishop.

Rose Bawcum prepares to lead her row to the stage as their turn arrives.

Jeff Bach is happy to receive his diploma after four years of hard work.

Children are like kites. You spend a lifetime trying to get them off the ground. You run with them until you're both breathless. They crash - you add a longer tail. They hit the roof top you pluck them out of the spot. You patch and comfort a little and patch. You watch them lifted by the wind and assure them that someday they will fly!! Finally they are airborne, but you miss their string and you keep pulling it out and with each pull of the ball of twine there is a sadness that goes out with the joy because the kids become more distant and somehow you know that it won't be long before that beautiful immature evil snaps the life line that binds
you together and scar
as it was meant to soar free and alone!

Congratulations, Katie!!

Desiderata

Go placidly amid the noise and haste, and remember what peace there may be in silence, as far as possible without surrender be on good terms with all persons. Speak your truth quietly and clearly, and listen to others, even the dull and ignorant; they too have their story.

Avoid loud and aggressive persons, they are vexations to the spirit. If you compare yourself to others, you may become vain and bitter; for always there will be greater and lesser persons than yourself. Enjoy your achievements as well as your plans.

Keep interested in your own career, however humble; it is a real possession in the changing fortunes of time. Exercise caution in your business affairs; for the world is full of trickery. But let this not blind you to what virtue there is; many persons strive for high ideals; and everywhere life is full of heroism.

Be yourself. Especially do not feign affection. Neither be cynical about love; for the face of all aridity and disenchantment it is perennial as the grass.

Take kindly the council of the years, gracefully surrendering the things of youth. Nurture strength of spirit to shield you in sudden misfortune. But do not distress yourself with imaginings. Many fears are born of fatigue and loneliness. Beyond a wholesome discipline, be gentle with yourself.

You are a child of the universe, no less than the trees and the stars; you have a right to be here, and whether or not it is clear to you, no doubt the universe is unfolding as it should.

Therefore be at peace with God, whatever you conceive Him to be, and whatever your labors and aspirations, in the noisy confusion of life keep peace with your soul.

With all its shame, drudgery and broken dreams, it is still a beautiful world. Be careful. Strive to be happy.

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are employed in the public sector has increased by 1.5 million, from 2.5 million in 1980 to 4 million in 1995. The public sector has also become an important employer of women, with 5.5 million women employed in the public sector in 1995, compared with 4.5 million in 1980.

There are a number of reasons why the public sector has become an important employer of women. One reason is that the public sector has a high proportion of women in its workforce. In 1995, 88% of the public sector workforce were women, compared with 78% in 1980. This is due to a number of factors, including the fact that the public sector has a high proportion of jobs that are traditionally held by women, such as teaching, nursing, and social work.

Another reason why the public sector has become an important employer of women is that it has a high proportion of jobs that are part-time or flexible. In 1995, 22% of the public sector workforce were employed on part-time or flexible contracts, compared with 12% in 1980. This is due to a number of factors, including the fact that the public sector has a high proportion of jobs that are traditionally held by women, such as teaching, nursing, and social work.

A third reason why the public sector has become an important employer of women is that it has a high proportion of jobs that are well paid. In 1995, the average salary of a public sector employee was £18,000, compared with £15,000 in 1980. This is due to a number of factors, including the fact that the public sector has a high proportion of jobs that are traditionally held by women, such as teaching, nursing, and social work.

There are a number of reasons why the public sector has become an important employer of women. One reason is that the public sector has a high proportion of women in its workforce. In 1995, 88% of the public sector workforce were women, compared with 78% in 1980. This is due to a number of factors, including the fact that the public sector has a high proportion of jobs that are traditionally held by women, such as teaching, nursing, and social work.

Another reason why the public sector has become an important employer of women is that it has a high proportion of jobs that are part-time or flexible. In 1995, 22% of the public sector workforce were employed on part-time or flexible contracts, compared with 12% in 1980. This is due to a number of factors, including the fact that the public sector has a high proportion of jobs that are traditionally held by women, such as teaching, nursing, and social work.

A third reason why the public sector has become an important employer of women is that it has a high proportion of jobs that are well paid. In 1995, the average salary of a public sector employee was £18,000, compared with £15,000 in 1980. This is due to a number of factors, including the fact that the public sector has a high proportion of jobs that are traditionally held by women, such as teaching, nursing, and social work.
